A DISGRACE

ADAM HOLT

David Lammy, Tottenham MP, spoke with fury after rioters and looters tore through High Road. Here are his words of condemnation – and inspiration to rebuild our shattered world

LTHE vast majority of people in Tottenham reject what has happened here. A community that was already hurting has now had the heart ripped out of it.

The Post Office, fitness shop, newsagents, mobile phone shop, council buildings – all smashed to pieces by mindless people, many of whom are not from Tottenham but have come from far beyond this community intent on causing violence.

“What happened here on Thursday night [Mark Duggan’s shooting] raised huge questions, and we need answers, but the response to that is not to loot, or to rob. This is a disgrace – as so many of my constituents have said to me as I talked to them.

This must stop. This is nothing like the sort of scenes we saw in Tottenham 25 years ago. Then there was a particular relationship with the police. This now is an attack on Tottenham, on people – ordinary people, shopkeepers, women, children – who are now standing on the streets homeless as a consequence. These are ordinary shopkeepers that live above their shops.

There are questions about the nature of the escalation of this violence and the nature of the policing that led up to it. I am concerned that what was a peaceful protest turned into this and seemed to go on for many hours before we saw the start of the kind of policing that I think is appropriate. I think that small skirmishes initially should have been stopped far quicker, so I will have a meeting with the police and the broader community to discuss our way forward.

I think it’s very important for people to remember that the media will come here in these circumstances, that they will be here for a few days and then they will disappear. But what they will leave behind is a community of many people who are more about building communities than about destroying communities.

For every one person who threw a stone, there are thousands that are committed to Tottenham and to building it – not destroying it. And that work will continue – and it will continue straight away – to get back to normal, to turn our High Road into something that we can be proud of.

This is totally unacceptable. I have lived here all of my life and to see a High Road – that I have used and visited – with people devastated like this, is deeply painful.

We will need answers – and I will continue to speak with the police and Independent Police Complaints Commission. But for now, of course, we also need restraint and calm.

And I will say, to all those who wanted to come to Tottenham to cause violence and disturbance, “stay away – we don’t need you!”

We don’t want to see 25 years of rebuilding community and trust destroyed by mindless nonsense on our streets.

 NEWSPAPERS SUPPORT RECYCLING

By Daniel O'Brien

POLICE cars were burned, shops looted and homes destroyed in riots that started in Tottenham on Saturday evening and have since spread across London and to other UK cities.

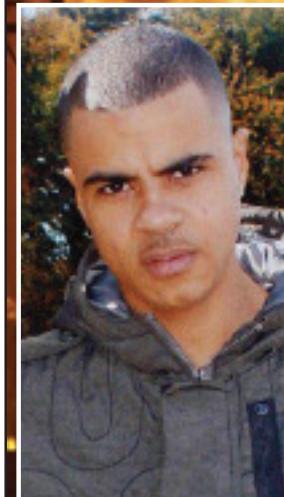

What had begun as a peaceful protest against the shooting by police of Mark Duggan in Tottenham last Thursday, quickly exploded into a full-scale riot that turned Tottenham High Road into what one witness called a "war-zone".

At around 5pm on Saturday about 200 protesters, including members of Mr Duggan's family, marched from the Broadwater Farm estate and gathered outside Tottenham police station. The angry crowd chanted "we want answers", in support of the family's claim that police and the Independent Police Complaints Commission, which is investigating Duggan's shooting (see page 4), were not giving them any information and were refusing to talk to them.

Officers then closed off part of the High Road surrounding the station but at about 8pm the violence began when two police patrol cars were set alight.

Unconfirmed reports suggest the violence was triggered by a teenage girl being knocked to the ground by police after she taunted officers, although this has yet to be verified.

Rioters threw petrol bombs and other missiles, including milk bottles, at police and buildings. Writer David Akinsanya reported seeing people with cameras attacked and children as young as seven and eight running around with their faces covered.

Many shops in the area were ransacked and looted, with some thieves using shopping trolleys to transport stolen goods.

In scenes reminiscent of the Broadwater Farm disturbances of 1985, riot police, including many on horseback, were used to try to contain the violence, while looting continued well into Sunday morning. One witness described the area as a "war-zone" and reported gangs of youths throwing burning bins at riot police.

"I saw five youths with faces covered up," he said. "They set a wheelie bin on fire and threw it into the riot police."

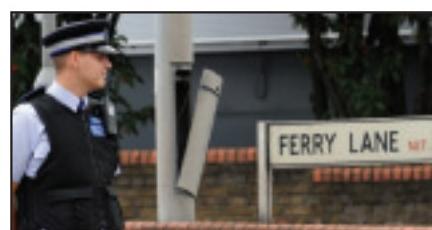

At about 11pm a double-decker bus was completely burned out after it was set alight at the junction of High Road and Brook Street. A building on the High Road that housed residential flats and a Carpetright store was destroyed by fire and other shops along the High Road, including an Aldi, were targeted.

Stuart Radose fled his flat above Carpetright before it was destroyed by fire. "It's crazy," he said. "I think we've just spent our last night in Tottenham. We're just in shock. I don't know how this was allowed to happen."

London Fire Brigade attended 49 fires in the Tottenham area between 9.30pm on Saturday and 4.30am on Sunday. Some fire crews were threatened as they tried to gain access to the fires, although none were injured.

Police say 26 police officers were injured in the riots. Fifty-five arrests were made and 16 people have so far been charged with offences committed during the riots. These include burglary, violent disorder and possession of knives and other weapons.

By daybreak, the rioters had been dispersed and fires extinguished, although many buildings were still smouldering. Haringey Council said 45 residential properties were badly damaged during the riot and that 29 people have so far approached it for housing support.

The rioting and looting have since spread across London and the UK, with Hackney, Brixton, Clapham and Croydon among the worst affected areas. In nearby Enfield, shop windows were smashed and looted on Sunday night and at around midnight on Monday a Sony warehouse was raided and set alight. It took 40 firefighters until the early hours to get the blaze under control.

Haringey Council has set up a service to help people made homeless by the riots. Anyone needing housing support should call 07792 437 519. Anyone wishing to help by donating materials such as bedding and clothes can do so at the South Tottenham council offices at Apex House, 820 Seven Sisters Road, London N15 5PQ.

Brother of man whose death lit fuse for trouble condemns looters and calls for peace

THE brother of the man whose shooting by police triggered the wave of rioting across London and the UK has called on rioters to "hold it down".

Shaun Hall, whose brother Mark Duggan was shot dead during an attempted arrest by armed police on Thursday, told Sky News that his family was devastated by his brother's death, and had been left frustrated by the lack of answers being provided by police and the Independent Police Complaints Commission.

But he stressed that his family totally condemned the actions of rioters and looters following Saturday's peaceful protest, led by friends and relatives of

Mr Duggan, in Tottenham High Road. "There were some questions that were supposed to have been answered," he said. "They weren't answered and then there was a domino effect from that, which we don't condone at all."

"I know people are frustrated. They are angry out there at the moment but I would say 'please try hold it down'. Please don't make this a bearing on my brother's life. My brother was a good man."

Mr Hall also denied reported claims that his brother had shot at police. He said: "I know my brother's not that sort of person. He's not stupid to shoot at the police. That's ridiculous."

A GROUP of young men from Tottenham, appalled at what has happened to their area, have joined the efforts to clean up the High Road after Saturday's riots left homes and businesses in ruins.

Olu Johnson, 28, a youth worker from Tottenham, and his friend Daniel Addo, 27, began recruiting other young people to help get the area back on its feet. They used social networking sites and their contacts at the gym to reach out to local people.

Olu said he decided to organise the clean-up crew because too much time was being spent analysing what had happened and not enough on helping the victims of the riots.

"Someone has to talk about it and find out what the underlying problem is, but that won't clean it up", he said. "We need to rebuild Tottenham. I might not be able to help with money, but I can in person."

More than 15 people aged 20 to 30 have joined the clean-up so far, but they may have to wait before the worst-affected areas are safe to enter.

Rebuilding High Road begins as volunteers offer their services

Gang mediator and youth worker Ken Hinds said projects like this would go some way to counter the condemnation on the minority of young people. He said: "It's vital we don't attack all young people as though they are criminals," he said.

"This shows the majority of people care about their local community."

Investigation launched into death of man shot by police

AN INDEPENDENT investigation has been launched into the circumstances surrounding the death of Mark Duggan, the man shot dead by police last Thursday.

Rumours circulating among the community and online that Mr Duggan had been "assassinated" by police, with a number of shots to his head, have been blamed for the escalation of violence in Tottenham.

However, the initial report from the Independent Police Complaints Commission has tried to lay to rest that speculation as being "categorically untrue".

IPCC commissioner Rachel Cernytonne said: "It is important I address some of the misinformation circling around – much of which is unhelpful and some of which is inflammatory."

"A number of items, including a non-police firearm found at the scene and a police radio, have been sent for forensic testing. We will be interviewing key witnesses, including firearms officers who attended the scene as well as independent witnesses.

"I cannot give out further information until we have proven what is fact and what is rumour. However, speculation that

Heading investigation: IPCC's Rachel Cernytonne

Mark Duggan was 'assassinated' in the style of an execution involving a number of shots to the head are categorically untrue. Following the formal identification of the body, Mr Duggan's family know that this is not the case."

Emphasising the independent nature of her investigation, Ms Cernytonne added: "As IPCC commissioner I cannot ever have worked for the police and am entirely independent of them. My role is to oversee the investigation."

"I remain in touch with Mr Duggan's family and with community leaders, and I join them in appealing for calm."

Spurs' chief Levy says club will help 'rebuild our area'

By Dominique Stafford

TOTTENHAM HOTSPUR chairman Daniel Levy has expressed his shock at the rioting which swept the area on Saturday night.

Shops and homes were destroyed by fires just yards from Spurs' White Hart Lane ground in the first of two nights of disturbances across north London, and Mr Levy has offered the club's full support in helping to rebuild the community.

He said: "As a major employer and business in the area, the club is deeply saddened by recent events and concerned about the disruption to people's lives and the effect on the community as a whole. We hope calm and order is restored as soon as possible and that we can now look to rebuild the area and its community spirit.

"Through our work in the neighbourhood we know there is a strong sense of community in Tottenham and that recent events will only serve to strengthen the resolve of all of us to improve the area and the quality of lives of those who live and work within it."

Mr Levy even expressed the hope that the weekend's disturbances could actually become a catalyst for moves to regenerate the area.

He said: "We immediately offered further support to the community and are now discussing how best we can tangibly assist in the aftermath of these events with MP David Lammy and Claire Kober, leader of Haringey Council.

Committed: Spurs' chairman Daniel Levy

"It is more critical than ever that community, business and political leaders – local and national, public and private – work closely together to support the regeneration of this area. We shall certainly look to play our part in that."

Tottenham Hotspur Foundation chief executive Grant Cornwell added: "The foundation is integral to the community and will work to bring the area together to rebuild morale and the local spirit."

Public Notices

ANNOUNCEMENT OF INTENTION NOT TO PREPARE AN ENVIRONMENTAL STATEMENT (Regulation 5 of the Environmental Impact Assessment (Land Drainage Improvement Works) Regulations 1999 as amended by SI 2005/1399 and SI 2006/618

Broadwater Farm Trash Screen

The Environment Agency gives notice that it proposes to carry out improvement works to the flood defences on Moselle Brook in London Borough of Haringey at Broadwater Farm Trash Screen, on Lordship Recreation Ground (NGR TQ 32776 90125). The proposed improvement works will involve the following: Replacement of existing single stage trash screen with a new two stage trash screen and working platform. Scheme will also require the installation of steps to access the platform.

The Environment Agency considers that the improvement works are not likely to have significant effects on the environment and does not intend to prepare an environmental statement in respect of them. A low risk file note has been prepared and a copy can be obtained from the project manager at the address below.

Any person wishing to make representations in relation to the likely environmental effects of the proposed improvement works should do so, in writing, to the address specified below, within 28 days of the date of publication of this notice.

SPURS HOPEFUL ABOUT OPENER

By Dominique Stafford

TOTTENHAM HOTSPUR remain hopeful that their opening Premier League clash at home to Everton will take place on Saturday despite the weekend rioting on the High Road.

The ticket office at the Paxton Lane end of their White Hart Lane ground was one of many buildings damaged by the serious disturbances on Saturday night, which has since spread across London to leave police resources severely stretched.

But, although last night's Carling Cup matches at West Ham United, Crystal Palace and Charlton Athletic and tonight's England friendly against Holland at Wembley were all called off at the request of the police, Spurs insist that they are still planning for the match to take place as scheduled.

A club statement said: "Following the disturbances in Tottenham over the weekend, the club has been in ongoing discussions with the necessary authorities regarding this coming weekend's Premier League fixture against Everton.

"We can advise fans that at this stage the game is going ahead, and the club is doing everything it can to ensure that this remains the position.

"Fans are advised to check for further updates, and in particular travel details as we shall look to advise fans on best available travel options."

Steven Pienaar is a doubt for the match against his former club after the South African midfielder picked up a groin injury during Saturday's 2-1 friendly win at home to Athletic Bilbao.

Meanwhile, Tottenham face an all-British tie in the play-off round of the Europa League after being drawn against Scottish outfit Hearts.

The first leg will take place in Edinburgh on August 18, with White Hart Lane hosting the return match the following week.

"It will be a tough tie," said assistant manager Kevin Bond. "This will be a proper game over two legs, and in no way, shape or form will we underestimate the challenge."

Hoping to play: Spurs currently expect Saturday's Premier League match against Everton at White Hart Lane to go ahead as planned

Skolars are still searching for a first away win

THE London Skolars are still searching for their first away win of the season after slumping to a 26-16 defeat at South Wales Scorpions in rugby league's Co-Operative Championship One on Saturday.

The Skolars have enjoyed some good results at home – enjoying four successive victories at one stage – but have failed to replicate those displays on their travels and fell away in the second period against the Scorpions after being on level terms at half-time.

The hosts started strongly and were rewarded on nine minutes when Andrew Gay grabbed the opening try, converted by Lewis Reece.

But those proved to the Scorpions' only points of the first half as the Skolars hit back and levelled the scores through a Saqib Murtza try and Dylan Skee conversion.

The match turned in the hosts' favour in the second half as converted tries from Chris Davies and Christian Roets put them 12 points ahead.

The Skolars again hit back through Smokie Junor's converted try, but the Scorpions continued to threaten in attack and extended their lead as Gay touched down for a second time.

Sam Gee's try with 12 minutes left gave the visitors some hope, only for Reece to slot over a penalty to round off the scoring.

The London Skolars face their last away match of the season on Sunday when they go to basement side Gateshead Thunder.
